Introduction

"These things also I have observed: that knowledge of our world is to be nurtured like a precious flower, for it is the most precious thing we have. Wherefore guard the word written and heed words unwritten—and set them down ere they fade... Learn then, well, the arts of reading, writing, and listening true, and they will lead you to the greatest art of all: understanding."
—Alaundo of Candlekeep

This chronology is the most definitive accounting of Realms history on the Internet or in print. This timeline includes dates from over 35 official Realms products (sourcebooks, novels, and magazine articles). All references in this timeline are considered canon in the Forgotten Realms campaign setting. In fact, every single event in this timeline includes a reference to its associated sourcebook(s). A complete list of references can be found following the chronology.

I’d like to thank the following members of the online community who have contributed to the success of this timeline over the years (whether they know it or not!): Lazar (chaostorm), Roland Schiller, Kenneth Burns, Zanan Telenna, Graziano Girelli, Alaundo, The Sage, Wooly Rupert, Dargoth, Brian Schutte, "N2nd", Jesse G Nelson III, Verghityax, Jeff Harward, Khawar Siddiqi, Brad Bolas, Yaron Barak, JEB215AlphaZed, SickAurSHT, Greg Salito, and Steven Lansford.

Of course this chronology could not exist without the Forgotten Realms and its enigmatic creator Ed Greenwood. A big thanks Ed!

Finally, this work is dedicated to my little brother Matthew; a fine soldier and an even bigger D&D geek than myself. I miss you bro. Be safe.

A year in the Realms consists of 365 days: 12 months of exactly 30 days each (due to the single moon and its followers), plus five days that fall between months. These days are special occasions. Leap year is retained purely for social convenience, and provides a sixth special day that is used as the basis for long-term agreements and such contracts and activities.

Months are subdivided into three ten-day periods. These are known variously as eves, tendays, weeks, domen, hyrvar, or rides throughout the Forgotten Realms. While rides is the standard term used in Cormyr and the Dalelands, this text uses weeks to avoid confusion. There is no standard set of day names. The days of the week differ from geographic region to region, and usually have a religious connotation.

Although the months that comprise a year are standardized, the system of dating years varies from place to place. Usually, years are numbered from an event of great political or religious significance. Each nation or region has cultures with unique histories, and thus, different reckonings. The system of naming the months is named for its inventor, the long-dead wizard Harptos of Kaalinth, and is in use throughout the North.

The Calendar of Harptos

The Calendar of Harptos is summarized in the table below. Each month's name is followed by a colloquial description of that month, plus the roughly corresponding month of the Gregorian calendar in parentheses. Special days are listed when they occur between months. These days are special occasions. Leap year is retained purely for social convenience, and provides a sixth special day that is used as the basis for long-term agreements and such contracts and activities.

Special Calendar Days

Midwinter: Midwinter is known officially in Cormyr as the High Festival of Winter. It is a feast where, traditionally, the local lords of the land plan the year ahead, make and renew alliances, and send gifts of goodwill. To the commonfolk throughout the Realms, this is Deadwinter Day, the midpoint of the worst of the cold.

Greengrass: Greengrass is the official beginning of spring, a day of relaxation. Flowers that have been carefully grown in the inner rooms of the keeps and temples during the winter are blessed and cast out upon the snow to bring rich growth in the season ahead.

Midsummer: Midsummer, called Midsummer Night or the Long Night, is a time of feasting and music and love. In a ceremony performed in some lands, unwed maidens are set free in the woods and "hunted" by their would-be suitors throughout the night. Betrothals are traditionally made upon this night. It is very rare indeed for the weather to be bad during this night—such is considered a very bad omen, usually thought to foretell famine or plague.

Highharvestide: Highharvestide heralds the coming of fall and the harvest. It is a feast that often continues the length of the harvest so that food is always on hand for those comin in from the fields. There is much traveling about on the heels of the feast, as merchants, court emissaries, and pilgrims make speed before the worst of the mud arrives and the rain freezes in the snow.

The Feast of the Moon: This festival, also called moonfest, is the last great festival of the year. It marks the arrival of winter and is also the day when the dead are honored. Graves are blessed, the Ritual of Remembrance is performed, and tales of the doings of those now gone are told far into the night. Much is said of heroes and treasure and lost cities underground.

Wars, by the way, are often but not always fought after the harvest is done, continuing as late as the weather permits. The bulk of the fighting takes place in the month of Uktar, and the ironic practicality of the Feast of the Moon is readily apparent.

Shieldmeet: Once every four years, another day is added to the year in the manner of February 29 in the Gregorian calendar. This day is part of no month and follows Midsummer Night. It is known as Shieldmeet. It is a day of open council between nobles and people, a day for the making and renewing of pacts, oaths, and agreements. It is a day for tournaments, tests and trials for those wishing to advance in battle fame or clerical standing, for entertainment of all types, particularly theatrical, and for dueling.
Marking the Years

Years or winters are referred to by names, each name consistent across the Realms. Each kingdom or city-state numbers years differently, usually to measure the reign of a dynasty or the current monarch, or since the founding of the country. The result is a hodgepodge of overlapping numbers that serve to confuse the ordinary person and frustrate the sage. The widespread differing year dates include the following:

Dalereckoning (DR): Dalereckoning is taken from the year that humans were first permitted by the Elven Court to settle in the more open regions of the forests. In some texts, primarily those which do not have direct ties to Dales history, Dalereckoning is called Freeman's Reckoning (FR). All dates in this chronology use Dalereckoning as its standard.

Cormyr Reckoning (CR): Cormyr Reckoning begins at the foundation of House Obarskyr, the dynasty that still rules that land. The 25-year gap between Cormyr Reckoning and Dalereckoning has caused much of the confusion regarding elder days. Timelines and calendars of the period often use DR designators, but place the founding of Cormyr at 1 DR instead of 26 DR. This is understandable, given that the two reckonings are from two nearby parties and spread by a third (the merchants of Sembia), but it causes learned sages to slam their heads violently against their desks trying to figure things out.

Northreckoning (NR): Used in the City of Waterdeep, Northreckoning dates from the year Ahghairon became the first Lord of Waterdeep. A more archaic system called Waterdeep Years (WY) dates from the supposed first use of Waterdeep as a trading post. This reckoning is now largely abandoned except in ancient texts.

Mulhorand Calendar (MC): One of the oldest calendars in use in the Realms, this ancient scheme of record-keeping dates from the founding of Skuld, the City of Shadows, reputedly by a Mulhorandi god.

Present Reckoning (PR): In an attempt to get a handle on the various number systems in use, a new type of reckoning has been implemented with the approval of such worthies as Khelben Arunsun of Waterdeep and Vangerdahast of Cormyr and carried abroad by the Harpers. All year-dates trace back to the Time of Troubles as Year 0.

The Roll of Years:

The wide variety of competing and often conflicting calendars causes no end of pain to the historian and the sage. Most use as their recording device the Roll of Years, a system by which each year has its own personal name.

Names for the years (or winters) are known collectively as the Roll of Years, as they are drawn from the predictions written down under that title by the famous Lost Sage, Augathra the Mad, with a few additions by the great seer Alaundo.

The Roll of Years stretches from -700 DR through 1600 DR. The Roll for the next decade is detailed below:

The current year in the Forgotten Realms campaign setting is 1374 DR, Year of the Lightning Storms.

Within the vast stary expanse known as the Sea of Night lies a tiny blue world known as Abeir—Toril to its inhabitants. The name, meaning "Cradle of Life" in Auld Common, is rarely used in everyday life. Most simply refer to the land as Faerûn, a name given by elves to the largest continent in the northern hemisphere of Toril.

Today, Faerûn is dominated by humans and other humanoid species. This Age of Humanity is fairly recent however, comprising only the past three or four thousand years of Faerûn's history.

Creation Myths

Sages and theologians from many species debate the facts surrounding Toril's creation. As with any myth from these earliest days of Toril, it's best to take any account with a grain of salt. Of course most myths are at birthed from true events, so judge for yourself if those tales within are fact or fiction or both.

The War of Light and Darkness

The most common account of Toril's prehistory traces its roots back to ancient Netheril. This popular human myth recounting the epic battle between Light and Darkness begins with Lord Ao and the creation of the known cosmos.

After a period of timeless nothingness two beings formed from the void. The twin goddesses of darkness and light, Shar and Selûne respectively, soon joined forces and fashioned a world from the ether. This material embodiment of the Earthmother was rocky and barren but contained great power.

Selûne, wishing to warm the planet and nurture life on its surface, summoned the Yellow God into being. Outraged at her sister's affront, Shar summoned the Stormstar to destroy the sun god and keep Toril cold to fuel her own dark powers. As the two goddesses and their lieutenants battled across the cosmos, other powers formed from the void to aid one side or the other. Among the newcomers were the Rotting God, the Reaver, and Lady Doom.

The conflict came to an end when Selûne separated a chuck of divine essence from herself and hurled it at her dark sister. Upon striking Shar, the goddess Mystryl was formed composed of both light and dark magic. Mystryl forced an uneasy truce among the powers allowing life to quickly flourish on the Toril.

The World Serpent

This creation myth passed down by generations of lizardfolk begins with an ending. It is said in the ancient lore of the scaled ones that planet we know as Toril was once covered entirely by a single vast ocean. This world, home to a race of sea creatures known simply as the Progenitors, had known peace and tranquility for untold millennia. This peace ended with the arrival of the Night Serpent.

Rising up from beneath the waves, the colossal beast stretched forth and snatched the sun from the sky, swallowing it whole. The world was plunged into darkness, causing global temperatures to plummet. Within weeks most life on Toril was extinct. Returning beneath the waves, the Night Serpent slept and the great ocean froze solid around him.

Eons passed before sunlight warmed the world once more. Oceans thawed then receded, allowing dry land to peak above the frigid water. Plant life sprouted upon the surface of the world, followed soon by primitive reptilian creatures. Ouroboros the World Serpent observed and was pleased. From his own flesh Ouroboros created the first Sarrukh and set them upon the land. In exchange for their worship, the World Serpent pledged to teach them the secrets of magic, civilization, and power.

In celebration, the World Serpent snatched a comet from the Sea of Night forcing it into an orbit behind the existing moon. He then imbued the two moons with a portion of his deific power and naming them Ssharstrune and Zotha. To the comet Zotha he entrusted the safety of his chosen Sarrukh. As long as Zotha watched down upon the world the Sarrukh would thrive and dominate the planet. To Ssharstrune he tasked the gift of light and shadow; the power over arcane magic.

All was well for a time. Just as he knew they would, the Sarrukh flourished and spread their dominion across the land. But Ouroboros knew not of the existence of the Night Serpent whom still slumbered beneath the world. Nor could The World Serpent know that the descendants of the Progenitors were spawning beneath the waves and even then undergoing metamorphosis to walk upon the land.

Is this canon?

The short answer is no. Unlike the rest of the grand history which is 100% canon, the Ancient History chapter was made up by yours truly as one possible history of ancient Faerûn. Many of the details were inspired by actual canon realmslore sprinkled throughout a handful of sourcebooks notably Lost Empires of Faerûn and the 2nd-Edition Giantcraft and Draconomicon.
Atlas of the Ancient World

Introduction

Over ten thousand years of survival and expansion are covered in this ancient account of civilization on Abeir–Toril. Four major themes dominate this long early chapter of Toril’s history: the empires of the creator races, the spread of humanity, the dominion of dragonkind, and the coming of the elves.

This story begins and the end of a great Ice Age, about 37,000 years ago. When the last glaciations ended, the great ocean receded to reveal dry land. In this ancient time before The Sundering, the lands which would one day be identified as Faerûn, Kara–Tur, Maztica, and Zakhara were each but one part of a much larger super-continent named Merrouroboros.

This first millennium saw life spread quickly throughout the widespread tropical forests of Merrouroboros. Unintelligent reptiles known as Thunderers ruled the land, sea, and sky. By the end of the first millennium post Ice Age, primitive bands of hunter-gatherer lizardfolk lived along the fertile waters of The Goldenwater in modern-day Durpar, exploiting game, lake–fish, and wild plants of all kinds. Unlike the Thunderers, the sauroids possessed superior intellect and tactical sense. In time they would become known as the sarrukh, the first of the mighty creator races.

The Days of Thunder

The introduction of cattle, sheep, and goats revolutionized farming in the Durpar region. Herders were seminomadic, driving their animals between seasonal pastures. By −35,000 DR, desertification of Durpar began perhaps in part because of overgrazing. The herders’ response was to migrate northwest from The Goldenwater to a region of semi-arid savanna they named Okoth.

In Okoth the sarrukh founded their first permanent settlements. Early sarrukh villages were dominated by temple complexes dedicated to the worship of the World Serpent. Most sarrukh settlements of this period had a population between two and eight thousand people, though Daar Mundigak itself, the largest city in Okoth, had over ten thousand. By −34,200 DR this had risen to about fifty-thousand.

Writing was invented as an aid to administration in communities that had grown so complex that sarrukh memory could no longer store all the information needed for efficient government. The earliest sarrukh signs were pictographs scribed on clay tablets then dried. The sarrukh writing systems were widely adopted by their slaves.
As their population grew the sarrukh surpassed the level sustainable by local resources. The Sarrukh Empire soon expanded north and west.

The Mhairshaulk Empire arose in ~34,800 DR along the southern shores of the Black Sea, and the Istostosseffifil Empire followed in ~34,500 DR, based along the eastern shores of the old Narrow Sea in the north. Trade links between Okoth, Istostosseffifil, and Mhairshaulk played an important part in spreading the influence of the sarrukh civilization throughout Merrouroboros.

Upon discovering other progenitor races, the sarrukh quickly realized that such creatures would make passable servitors and enslaved them. In the early days of sarrukh expansion, Scaleless Ones were not even viewed as worthy sacrifices for the World Serpent. This low status meant that they could be killed with impunity and eaten by their masters. Around ~34,400 DR the sarrukh empires moved directly from the Stone Age to the Iron Age. Equipped with steel weapons and armor, the sarrukh easily defeated any resistance offered by the savage Scaleless Ones they encountered.

The sarrukh civilization entered a new a troubled phase circa ~34,200 DR. The sarrukh had conquered so many races that they became the minority in their own empire. A century of civil strife drove the Okoth sarrukh into the planes collapsing their empire in ~34,100 DR. Istostosseffifil fell soon after in ~33,800 DR, after a war with the phaerimm left their ecology irrevocably damaged. Mhairshaulk was last to fall in ~33,500 DR, its lands ceded to yuant–ti control.

Today, many sages surmise that humanity first appeared in the northern savannas of Katashaka around ~34,000 DR before migrating outward to populate the rest of the world. In the lands south of Mhairshaulk human tribes depended on fishing, hunting and herding to sustain them. The tribes of Lopango, however, utilized irrigation techniques which allowed them to take up pastoral farming.

Unfortunately the proximity of primitive human tribes to Mhairshaulk proved disastrous. Sarrukh raiding parties routinely patrolled Thinguth lands returning to Mhairshaulk with humans for food or slavery. A few were experimented upon by their sarrukh captors. Tainted and augmented by sarrukh magic, these unfortunate individuals would in time become known as vrael olo, the yuan–ti.

Also late in the third millennium, the earliest communities of sea born batrachi began to flourish in the mild northern currents of the Black Sea known as the Fertile Crescent. The supply of mussels and other shell fish was so rich that in some areas the hunter–gatherer population could settle in semi–permanent villages. During this time many batrachi began to undergo metamorphosis to walk upon the land.

In Maztica, the permanent farming villages of Payit appeared among the fertile northern floodplains along the Strait of Lopango. Human tribes of Katashaka began to develop a hieroglyphic script from which the later Maztican and Chultan scripts derive. The land based batrachi adopted a cuneiform based writing style adopted from earlier Sarrukh pictographs.

Under the wise leadership of Zhoukoudien batrachi power reached its zenith. Zhoukoudien held Mhairshaulk in check and expanded batrachi dominions with campaigns against the giants of Ostoria. Zhoukoudien’s last campaign ended in defeat, however, when he was killed in battle by the titan lord Omo. Unlike the sarrukh before them, the batrachi continued to use bronze as the main metal for tools and weapons throughout much of their reign.

For more lore on the batrachi, see Mysteries of the Creator Races: The Batrachi by Gray Richardson in Candlekeep Compendium III.
Severe earthquakes rocked the region for weeks afterwards. The crystalline batrachi cities, though reinforced by magic, were unable to withstand the incessant aftershocks. By year’s end, the Batrachi Empire had fallen into ruin.

The impact of the moon threw up a thick cloud of dust into the atmosphere obscuring the sun for seven long years. Without the nutrient rich sun, plant-life began to die out across the land. Without plants to eat, many herbivores soon starved, followed quickly by their carnivore hunters. Only those peoples possessing great magic or divine protection survived the mass extinction.

In the weeks following Tearfall, ten of thousands of dragon eggs began hatching across Merrouroboros. These precursor wyrmes were not the mighty dragons known today for they possessed no wings, no magic, no dragon breath, and in the case of seawurmes no legs. Nor were they a new species of the great thunderers common in Mhairshaulk, for they were warm blooded and possessed greater intelligence.

As the wyrms adjusted to their new environment, an avian race known as the aearee seized the opportunity offered by the collapse of the Batrachi Empire by occupying virtually all the territory previously held by the amphibioids. Two distinct empires arose during this time, aearee-kokra ruled Anchorome and aearee-kenuku ruled Shaar.

Using diplomacy in lieu of force, the aearee-kokra built a peaceful empire stretching as far west as Maztica and as far south as the Lake of Steam. The great kokra aerie at Viakoo governed its lands fairly and forged lasting friendships with couatl, fey and other denizens of Anchorome. The aearee-kenuku were more militaristic in their expansion seizing their lands from jotunbrud and batrachi refugees. In a particularly devastating conflict with minions of Yeenoghu, the aearee-kenuku were subjected to the debilitating Wasting Plague. The afflicted, who had lost their wings as a result of the disease, were labeled korbie and driven underground.

In the later half of the sixth millennium, two isolated and independent draconic domains formed. On a large island west of mainland Merrouroboros, the radiant dragon Xymor established the landwyrm kingdom of Mymidune. And in the murky depths of Black Sea the great seawurm Leviathan established dominion over the aquatic races.

The civilized world was thrown into chaos around ~30,000 DR by waves of draconic invasions plunging Merrouroboros into a four-thousand-year-long “dark age”. The fey were particularly active in Merrouroboros during this period, using their small size and potent magic to aggravate the wyrms at every opportunity.

In the south, the fragility of the first human civilizations was evident as the forces of the dreadful Tarrasque pushed southward from the Black Sea. The Lopango, Eshowe, Thinguth, and Tabaxi tribes were conquered, their culture subsumed by the newly formed empire of Katashaka. Only the humans of northern Maztica, under the protection of the feathered serpent Qotal, escaped enslavement.

In the east, the skies of Merrouroboros filled with dragons. In the largest flight of dragons ever known, wyrmes of all species swept through Anchorome and Shaar sowing death and destruction in their wake. The aeries at Viakoo and Shara were destroyed in the first hour; the Aearee Empire left in ruin within a week. Though today they are ashamed to admit it, metallic dragons not only assisted their chromatic brethren in the initial assaults, they were just as ruthless in governing the lands they conquered.

For nearly five hundred years the Dominion of Nagamat ruled with an iron claw. Lord Nagamat ruled from his underground lair within the Orsraun Mountains before his death around ~29,500 DR. Nagamat’s fall saw the Dominion fracture into many smaller though equally oppressive empires.
For the next four thousand years a succession of dragon empires dominated central Merrouboros. Notable among these empires was the Demesne of Atranijkhera, ruled by the desert landwyrm Argissthiliix. The wasteland empress’s rule was harsh and in -27,000 DR her draconic subjects rebelled and seized most of the empire for themselves.

In Katashaka, Tarrasque’s grip over humanity loosened allowing the steppe peoples to pioneer the use of horses. This development enhanced their nomadic lifestyle giving the human tribes sufficient speed and mobility to manage large herds over vast ranges.

While the empires of dragonkind waxed and waned, the giant tribes united once again and spread to cover most of northeastern Merrouboros. The Colossal Kingdom as it came to be known was divided into several regions, one for each jotunbrud tribe, Vilmos, Nicias, Ruk, Ottar, Masud, Obadai, Dunmore, and Lanaxis. Voinheim was constructed as the Ostorian capital.

Continuing their work to undermine dragon rule, the fey open new gates to Toril circa -27,000 DR allowing the first elves to immigrate to Merrouboros. These primitive wood elves worshiped the Faerie gods, not the Seldarine which were unknown as this time. While most green elves were content to remain in small scattered tribes, one group known as the Ilythiiri negotiated with the dragons and begin to carve out a small kingdom in the south. The great Ilythiiri capital at Atorrnash was a shining beacon of elvish culture for millennia.

At the dawn of the eleventh millennium, an avatar of the draconic deity Garyx led dragonkind in battle against the giants of Ostoria. The conflict known as the Thousand Year War raged all across Merrouboros. By the end, both sides had suffered incalculable losses and were eager to reach a truce. Ostoria had survived though merely as a shadow of their former selves. The Reign of Giants had come to an end and the Colossal Kingdom now occupied only the northernmost edge of Faerûn.

Quick upon the heals of the truce with the giants, a sect of silver dragons launched a sneak attack against the golds claiming the sole divine favor of the deity Asgorath. The golds retaliate against the silvers, greens attack reds, and soon all of dragonkind is drawn into the conflict. Their ranks already depleted from the war with the giants, this five hundred year conflict which came to be known as the Draco Holy Wars was enough to significantly deplete the dragon population on Toril and actually threaten extinction.

In -25,400 DR a small group of gold elves fleeing the destruction of their homeland arrive in Toril through a gate. These elves rename the land Faerûn and the name Merrouboros is lost to antiquity. Within a generation a new variety of elves is born on Faerûn known as moon elves. By the end of the first millennium since their arrival on Faerûn, the moon and gold elves had build great cities that rival ancient Atorrnash.

Moon elf dragonriders of Sharlarion and dark elf myrmidon of Illythiiri openly challenged dragonkind but their attacks did not truly threaten dragon rule. It wasn’t until -25,000 DR when elven magic altered the King-Killer comet causing dragons to recklessly rage across Faerûn that the mighty dragon empires began to collapse.

In -24,400 DR centuries of trade disruptions and occasional skirmishes between the northern and southern elves erupt into open warfare. Ka’Narlist of Ghaunadaur leads the dark elves of Atorrnash against the light elves of Sharlarion. The dark elves are rebuffed and the conflict continues for another generation.
The Sundering

High Magi of the gold, silver, and green elves congregate at the tower of the Gathering Place to create the new elven homeland of Evermeet. Merrouroboros is sundered apart by the unbridled force of the high magic, driving the shattered lands westward through the Great Ocean and killing hundreds of thousands innocent souls. The first dynasty of Illythiir falls as Atorrnash and the surrounding lands are swept away.

Still reeling from the losses suffered during the Draco Holy Wars and the mass chaos of The Sundering many dragons chose seclusion from their kind. In this isolation the elves of Aryvandaar, Shantel Othreier, and Syorpiir are able to carve kingdoms out of abandoned dragon territories. In time the second dynasty of Illythiir arises on the ruins of the elder kingdom.

In the wake of the Sundering, many human of Azuposi descent found themselves on mainland Faerûn or scattered on newly created islands of the Trackless Sea. By ~3000 DR these humans would become known as the Illuskan people and found the realm of Illusk along the northern shores of the Sword Coast. Other human tribes also found themselves abandoned on mainland Faerûn cut off from their homeland on Katashaka. Concentrated primarily in the south along the shores of the Great Sea these tribes were known as the Tashalan, Lapal, Shaaran, and the Durpari.

The celestial dragon T’ien Lung led a tribe of humans north and east to settle among the modern day lands of Semphar, Skalhoond Forest, and The Firepeaks. These humans became known as Lung, the ancestors of the Tuigan, Shou, Wang, and other human ethnicities of Kara-Tur and the Far East.

The Creator Races

The five creator races (or Iqua-Tel’Quessir, in the language of the Fair Folk) dominated Faerûn during the Days of Thunder. All are considered native to Abeir-Toril, as are their descendants and creations. Most historians agree that the creator races were the sarrukh (known as sauroids, or creators of the serpentfolk and scalykind), the batrachi (known as amphibioids, or creators of the bullywugs, doppelgangers, kopru, kuo-toa, locothah, sivs, tako, and other shapeshifting, amphibious, or piscine races), the aearee (known as avians, or creators of the aaracokra, kenku, other birdlike humanoids), the fey (known as sylvans, or creators of the korreds, sprites, and pixies, and humans). Other sages incorrectly leave out the aearee but include dragons in the list. Elves, dwarves, and some human ethnic groups were immigrants to Abeir-Toril from other worlds.

Although five creator races existed in Faerûn, only four forged empires in the earliest days of recorded history (known today as the Days of Thunder), and only three contributed to the creation of the items now known as the Nether Scrolls.

The Creator Races

The sarrukh, batrachi, and aearee each dominated Faerûn in turn, creating or producing as offspring a host of lesser races and recording the magic of more primitive peoples. The fey have never dominated the continent; they chose instead to rule Faerie, an otherworldly realm loosely connected to Faerûn. Humans, the last of the Iqua-Tel’Quessir, did not rise to rule Faerûn until after the Time of Dragons and the elven and dwarven empires.

Except for the humans, the fate of the creator races is largely unrecorded. A few sarrukh lurk in ancient ruins and southern jungles, but most of their kindred departed for other planes millennia ago. The batrachi may be extinct, although a few scholars believe they fled to Limbo, where they became known as slaadi. The aearee flew westward to the great continent north of Maztica, and nothing is known of their fate. The fey still rule Faerie, although the ties between their realm and Faerûn are growing faint. Humans continue to thrive, as do crossbreeds with partial ancestry, such as the yuan-ti.
The Grand Chronology combines the timelines from over 35 sourcebooks published over 15 years, into ninety pages of Forgotten Realms history. Every event is 100% canon in realmslore and contains a reference to the sourcebook in which it was published.

Events that begin with the symbol are standard events. Those beginning with the symbol are verifiable canon events that have no precise date. I use my best judgement to determine a date for these events.

The Days of Thunder

–35000 DR to –30000 DR

The Dawn Age
-30000 DR to ~24000 DR

The empires of the creator races fade into memory, ushering in the Time of Giants and Dragons. [965660000]

c. ~30000 DR

- Large eggs begin raining down upon Toril like meteors. Soon, the first dragons start hatching all across Faerûn. [TSR9487 p.7]
- The great giant god Annam All-Father marries Othea, a lesser demigoddess of Toril. Their union produces eight terrestrial children. Ostoria, the Colossal Kingdom, is founded by Annam in honor of his sons. (Giant) [TSR9487 p.7]

- At first, the giants paid little attention to the few drakelings they discovered in icy caverns and secluded valleys. But within a few centuries, after some of the dragons reached maturity, the giants recognized the great reptiles as powerful and cunning interlopers who threatened Ostoria's very existence. Soon open warfare rages between giant and dragonkind with the rich resources of Faerûn awaiting the victor. (Giant) [TSR9487 p.7]

~28000 DR

- The Colossal Kingdom reaches its height, stretching across Faerûn from the Cold Lands to the Vilhon Reach. (Giant) [TSR9487 p.7] [965660000]

~26000 DR

- Othea, mother of gigantkind, pursues a series of unsatisfying affairs with various powers such as Vaprak, father of the ogre race. (Giant) [TSR9487 p.9] [TSR9563 p.62]

~25500 DR

- Othea begins an affair with Ulutiu, a minor sea god of the Savage Frontier. The union of Othea and Ulutiu ultimately produces four sons: firbolg, verbeeg, voadkyr, and fomorian. (Giant) [TSR9487 p.9] [TSR9563 p.62]

~25000 DR

- Ostoria reaches a truce with dragonkind and the Reign of Giants comes to an end. Ostoria has shrunk to only a shadow of its former self. The Colossal Kingdom now occupies only the northernmost edge of Faerûn (present day Great Glacier and the Cold Lands). (Giant) [TSR9487 p.9] [965660000]

- Draconic legends first speak of Ironfang Keep, a stronghold built on the cliffs of the White River, overlooking the Dragons' Sea (Present Day: Moonsea). [TSR1165 p.29] [TSR9474 p.59]

c. ~24500 DR

- Survivors of the Kingdom of Tintageer summon the power of elvish High Magic and escape from Faerie to Toril. Their new home, a large forested continent, they call Faerûn, the One Land.

The First Flowering
-24000 DR to ~12000 DR

The great elven civilizations of Faerûn reach their peak during this age. With the elves' success against the orcs and dragons and giants, the other races thrive in safety and begin the slow climb on civilization. [965660000]

c. ~24000 DR

- Yuan-ti ruled Mhairshaulk has all but collapsed, thanks to repeated assaults on its cities by the great wyrms of the south. (Chultan Peninsula) [965660000]

- The Time of Dragons comes to an end. [965660000 p.186]

The Sundering:

- Hundreds of High Magi gathered in the heartland of Faerûn at the Gathering Place. Ignoring the lesson learned from the destruction of Tintageer centuries earlier, the High Magi cast a spell designed to create a glorious elven homeland. As the Day of Birthing dawned, the spell reached its apex. Faerûn, the one land, is sundered apart by the unbridled force of the spell. As a result, hundreds of cities are washed away, thousands of elves lie dead, and the face of Abeir-Toril is changed forever. The name Faerûn, no longer the one land, was given to largest continent. Evermeet, Island of Elves, is created. The Tree of Souls is given to the elves.

- Called into service by the god Ubtao, an army of winged serpents known as couatls arrive in the Jungles of Chult from an unknown continent to the west. (Chultan Peninsula) [965660000]

- For centuries the couatls and the yuan-ti battle each other for control of the Chultan Peninsula. Time and again the yuan-ti were forced to concede their westernmost holdings to the couatls, until the ward ended in a stalemate with the Hazur Mountains as the dividing line. (Chultan Peninsula) [965660000 p.121]

c. ~23900 DR

- (c. ~24932 NR ) The forest community of Sharlarion, survived the Sundering nearly complete. These fortunate elves increased their number and spread into the surrounding forest, hills, and lowlands. Soon the elvish kingdom of Aryvandaar (Present Day: High Forest) was established. (High Forest) [TSR1165]

- (High Forest) The empires of the creator races fade into memory, ushering in the Time of Giants and Dragons. [965660000]

- Establishment of the first elvish settlements of Orishaar. (Present Day: Duskwood & the Shaar) [TSR1165]

- Establishment of the elvish settlements of Orishaar. (Present Day: Winterwood) [TSR1165]

Reflections of Moonshae by Toni M. James
The Crown Wars

-12000 DR to ~9000 DR

The Crown Wars of the Elves erupted more than a dozen millennia ago, pitting nearly four generations of elf against elf. The two greatest events of the Crown Wars that still have impact on the Realms of any era are the Dark Disaster and the Descent of the Drow. The Dark Disaster utterly destroyed the forest realm of Miyeritar, leaving the blasted plains that are now the High Moors. Perhaps due to the savagery of the Crown Wars or other factors long lost to time, the Dark Elves became corrupt during this era, broke away from their brethren, and after much warfare and cruelty they descended beneath the planet's surface to become the Deep Elves, the drow. [965660000]

-12000 DR

From the great migration, one isolated branch of dwarves settle amid the isolated peaks of the Novularon, eventually becoming known as the arctic dwarves. [885780000 p.8]

The first dwarven settlements appear in the great mountain range known as the Yehimal, which lies at the juncture of the three great continents of Faerûn, Kara-Tur, and Zakhara. From there, the earliest dwarves migrated into all three lands. [885780000 p.8]

The first great kingdom of the dwarves of Faerûn is centered in the great cavern of Blaerynden, deep beneath the Shaar. [885780000 p.8] [TSR11509 p.19]

Rise of the Vyshaantar Empire: After centuries of fruitless diplomacy, the impatient, grasping rulers of Aryvandaar attack Miyeritar and begins putting political pressure on Shantel Othreier to join them or suffer the same fate. [TSR1165]

The Crown Wars of the elves begin. [WTC11836]

-11800 DR

Miyeritar militarily occupied and annexed by Aryvandaar, though a number of clans and strongholds resist and continue to fight. Many elves of Illlefarn, despite its officially-neutral stance, provide secret safehavens for Miyeritar refugees. [TSR1165]

-11700 DR

Dragons set the southern expanse of Shantel Othreier aflame, separating the soon-to-be-called Wyrmwood from its greater body. Tethir, kin of Keltormir (soon to be called "the Dragonslayer"), single-handedly slays two ancient red wyrms of the Ridge and saves many elves of his own Keltormir and Shantel Othreier. Tethir's stand earned the elves the respect of the dragons, who had previously dismissed them as ignorant, two-footed cattle. [WTC11836] [TSR1165]

Human clans settle in the clearings and meadows created by the dragon fires around Keltormir. [WTC11836]

The Second Crown War flares up in answer to the aggressions of Aryvandaar. Ilythiir rises up and viciously strikes out at any who support the gold elves of the north. Its nearest neighbor of Orishaar, as a major trade partner with Aryvandaar, falls swiftly in a brutal surprise attack. [TSR1165]

The Ilythiiri destroy Syorpiir by fire, separating them from their allied neighbors and burning their homes to the ground. [TSR1165]

-11500 DR

Thearnytaar and Eiellûr band together and declare war on Ilythiir, decrying their use of fire and wanton destruction far more than the power plays of the northern elves. They fight a holding action, preventing the Ilythiiri from advancing north. [TSR1165]

-11450 DR

The Sable Wars: Thearnytaar and Eiellûr, with minimal allies from Keltormir and Shantel Othreier, invade Ilythiir, intent on destroying or reforming the dark elves before more realms fall. More than half their forces are decimated by the corrupt magics of the dark elves. [TSR1165]

-11400 DR

Fall of Eiellûr as the Ilythiiri once again use fire to destroy their realm around them and isolate them from aid. They also were helped by traitor green elves, who thought their appeasement actions could help restore peace. [TSR1165]

The start of the Crown Wars (and the Sable Wars and the fall of Eiellûr) sees a sudden influx of elves entering the Inner Sea, forcing the elves out into the sea and away from the coastal waters. This ignites the first major conflicts with merfolk and sahuagin. (Serôs) [TSR11393]

End of the First Crown War: Miyeritar conquered by Aryvandaar. [TSR1165]

The Elven realms of Eiellûr, Orishaar, Syorpiir, and Thearnytaar fall to the Ilythiir. The Ilythiiri skirmish with the elves of Keltormir. [WTC11836] [TSR1165]

Thearnytaar falls to the savage and now-unrepentant dark elves, who use enslaved monsters and and undead to occupy the thorn- and-bramble choked woods. Ilythiir now directly skirmishes with the major realm of Keltormir along its eastern and southern expanses. [TSR1165]

With another major migration to the sea after the fall of Thearnytaar, the sea elves expand militarily beyond the Selm Basin and establish the kingdoms and regions of Corenthys, Tor Meraliir, Ullythan Reef, and Ryeniir. (Serôs) [TSR11393]

The Stout Folk eventually prevail, after Taark slew four blue dragons who claimed the Rift of Dhalnadar as their demesne. [88578000 p.17] [TSR11405 p.53]

Rise of Shanatar: The Wyrmsskull Throne is formed, and Taark renamed the wyrm's lair Brightaxe Hall and founds the kingdom of Alatorin. Shield dwarves mark the founding of Alatorin as the beginning of the First Great Age of Shanatar. [88578000 p.17] [TSR11405 p.53]

Errata: The original founding of Shanatar occurs at c. -10800 DR, not c. -8100 DR. The uniting of the eight dwarven realms that occurs in c. -8100, is actually the beginning of the Second Age of Shanatar.

- Battle of the God's Theatre: The Gods' Theater (Present Day: The Tunlands) on eastern Shantal Othreier is the site of one of the largest and costliest of all the Crown Wars' battles. Nearly 70,000 elves died at the hands of elven and orcish enemies, as an orc horde 100,000 strong fell upon the already-embattled elves. Aryvandaar won the day, and occupied the northern half of Shantel Othreier. [TSR1165]

- Shock over the Dark Disaster established an uneasy four decades of peace, as nearly every elf of Faerûn shrank back in awe and horror from what havoc the Crown Wars wrought. [TSR1165]

- The eight sons of Taark Shanat set off to found their own kingdoms in the caverns to the north (beneath modern-day Tethyr and Amn). Each son claimed one of the children of Moradin as their patron deity and so each of the subkingdoms they established became tightly linked with the church of that particular god or goddess. -10270 DR

- The Stone and Claw Campaigns: The withdrawal of Keltormir's forces to close and defend its own borders pitted the forces of Aryvandaar and Ilythiir against each other. They soon closed ranks and fought incessantly for two centuries. Battles raged across the giant-infested mountains and wemic-claimed plains north of Keltormir. [WTC11836]

The battle is lost as the orcs surround over half of the allied forces and decimate them in their sleep; as the human guards were also among the slain, no explanation is apparent for the negligence. 675 DR (Year of the Bloodfeud)

○ The scandalous House Ulonpard, by openly accepting half-elves among the direct succession, suffers censure and much grief (and not a few attacks by mercenaries and assassins) from the other Houses of Myth Drannor. The attacks and social intrigues last for the next 50 years. [TSR9558]

676 DR (Year of Gruesome Grimoires)

○ Taerl Orlontayna returns to the Incanisteum and to the "Seven Wizards," though they are still only five in number. Later this year, in a politically motivated spell battle among some noble elves and humans, gold elf students accidentally kill Taeral and two human students. These elves are never charged with the crimes, as they frame the only non-elf left, and the innocent Arles of Arabel is forever banished from Myth Drannor for a crime he didn't commit. [TSR9558]

677 DR (Year of Resonant Silence)

○ Hym Kraaven, senior among the "Seven Wizards," uncovers the truth about Taeral's death and is swiftly killed in "an out-of-control tavern brawl" by agents and friends of the now-rogue and obviously power-mad magelings of House Faerondarl. [TSR9558]

○ Gilgeam of Unther sends a naval armada to crush the rebellious Wizards' Reach. The Untheric fleet suffers terrible losses in a great storm and turns back without landing. (Unther) (Aglarond) [177380000] [176650000]
678 DR (Year of the Poignant Poniard)
- Lord Councilor Kharis Maerdrym and his hunting party, which included several humans of note, mysteriously disappear off the coast of Delthunle during a Grand Hunt of a near-legendary greater quelzarn. 679 DR (Year of the Scarlet Sash)
- Hillsfar is nearly destroyed by an army of deepspawn-bred monsters emerging from the tangle, treacherous Beast Marches to the west. The Akh'Velahr reinforcements of Cormanthyr succeed in dispersing the beasts by the first snowfall of winter. A small garrison of troops remains stationed in Hillsfar for the protection of the northern forests and villages until Myth Drannor's Fall. [176650000] [WTC1183] [TSR1085a] [TSR9558]
- Uther recognizes the League of Samathar. Uther never recovers from the long, costly campaign to retain the Wizards' Reach, and the Second Unthric Empire ends. (Unthir) (Aglarond) (Thay) [177380000] [176650000] [WTC1183]

680 DR (Year of the Long March)
- After more than a decade, wizards of the Guild of Naturalists piece together the clues and realize that Halaster Blackcloak has been abducting wizards all throughout Cormanthyr in retaliation for their plundering of his monsters in Undermountain. The guild mounts a rescue expedition into the dungeon, which never returns, and they quietly end their sorties to Undermountain. Attempts to dispel or destroy the gate connecting their hall with Undermountain meet with failure. [TSR9558]
- Many human and dwarf stonemasons migrate from Myth Drannor to Hillsfar to aid that fledgling city in constructing its first encircling defensive wall. [TSR9558]

- Midsummer Alight: Calimport (eastern sabbans and boundaries), Manshaka (central), and Schainedar (all) set aflame by carelessly tended fires on Midsummer's Night; 13% total population (9% of Calimport), 17% total urbanized areas destroyed (100% of Schamedar, 25% of Manshaka, 7% of Calimport's buildings (though all villas of value). The Incantaeum now lies solely in the hands of Sakaala of the Seven Rings. [TSR9558]

684 DR (Year of the Sundered Crypt)
- Dwarves of the clan Tarynstone are found digging deep tunnels under Myth Drannor despite the long-held prohibition against such actions. Furthermore, some elf Houses are outraged that the dwarves' tunneling in restricted areas collapsed some nigh-forgotten deep crypts of the elder or long-gone Houses. Clan Tarynstone and its 350 dwarves, despite a cry within the Ruling Council for death sentences and an equally loud cry for acquittal, are exiled from Myth Drannor and Cormanthyr. The clan emigrates west into the Thunder Peaks. [TSR1165]

685 DR (Year of the Wrathwinds)

When Paeris seizes the fallen Arblade, he is found unworthy of its power and responsibility. Forever after, dead magic zone surrounds and permeates Paeris Haladar, making him a pariah to all within Cormanthyr. Josiah claims the elblade and returns to his post as Spell-Major with honor. [TSR9558]

694 DR (Year of the Ominous Oracle)
- The first divinations and portents of doom arrive via Darcassan, the diviner of Windsong Tower; he tells the Elders of Windsong Tower of the signs, but they keep the knowledge from the public to prevent a panic. Given the climate of distrust and factionalism, this news is also kept secret from the Council, as it is uncertain where the threat to Myth Drannor's security lies. [TSR9558]
- (~338 NR) The Circle of Flames and the wizards of Windsong Tower begin spiriting magical items and tomes (including the Scrolls Ardentym and the Keryfaertel) to safety. The Banes' Duel between the forces of Aulmipiter the nycaloth and Captain Flar lasts for two whole days, and ends with the pair facing off in mortal combat on the 15th day of Flamerule; while neither body is ever identified; the magical blast that engulfed them robs both armies of their commanders. [TSR9558]

- Fall of Myth Drannor: The final campaigns of the elves and allies against the Army of Darkness see the reestablishment of Elven Court as a seat of elven power in Cormanthyr while Myth Drannor falls under siege by the Army of Darkness. With the slaughter of the army and cavalry, little can be done against the Siege of Shadow, which descends on Myth Drannor on the 21st day of Kythorn. [TSR9558]

- The Siege lasts until the Final Flight in Flamerule, as the now-directionless hordes of the Army of Darkness simply swarm over Myth Drannor's last defenders by savagery and sheer weight of numbers. - With the Dukars absent, sahuagin raiding parties slaughter the remaining sea elf and merfolk guardians and look to destroy as much of Myth Nantar as possible, though they soon abandon the city due to the uncomfortable nature (for them) of the mythal. (Serós) [TSR11393]

For the next 500 years, folk will swim near Myth Nantar—less and less frequently, given the haunting singing that seems to emanate from the mythical when touched.
